

SCALLA 2002 at EACL 2003 in Budapest.

EACL is the European Chapter of the Association of Computational Linguists, with a strong interest in Asian languages in the immigrant communities within Europe. During the SCALLA2001 Donia Scott had suggested that we arrange an workshop in association with EACL 2003, and while BB Chaudhuri, Durgesh Rao, and Pat Hall were visiting LangTech, they made contact with the organisers of EACL. That in turn led to a proposal for a workshop to focus on the computational linguistics for South Asian languages, which was accepted.
